SPECIAL PRESENTATION

11:15 - 12:15

We are delighted to welcome Martin Streit, who will provide a fascinating history of the Domtar Cornwall mill. Established in 1881 by the Toronto Paper Manufacturing Company (later Howard Smith Co, and finally Domtar in the 1960s), the mill was a major player in the paper business. In 1960, the mill produced 100,000 tons/year of paper from two paper machines, which—at the time—were the largest in Canada. In 1994, the Cornwall mill became the world's first recycled corrugated cardboard facility. Domtar innovation was not restricted to the mill, with many investments and projects in advanced and intensive forest management in Eastern Ontario.
